Cape Poge

Edgartown

East Chop

West Chop

Gay Head

The trustees will provide transport and access to Cape Poge Light.
Martha's Vineyard Museum will open Edgartown & East Chop Lights.

We are working with the town of Aquinnah regarding access to Gay Head Light in its new location.
There is no access to West Chop as it is a Coast Guard Light. It can be photographed from the road.

The Martha's Vineyard Museum will be open on Friday & Saturday.

Edgartown Commons on Martha's Vineyard is holding a block of 15 suites for our group until March 2nd.

Price for two nights: 1-bedroom $318.13 or 2-bedroom $427.83.

For reservations call Rob Hurst: (508) 627-4671 or (800) 439-4671

The Holiday Inn, in Falmouth, is holding a block of 10 ground floor rooms until 3:00 pm, April 19th.

Price per night: $144.00 for either a room with two double beds or one king bed.

For reservations call: (877) 272-6415. Online booking: <http://bit.ly/2k3NuhG>. Our group code is "NELL".

It is about 10 minutes to the ferry dock.

For either hotel, please mention you're with "NELL". You are welcome to book other facilities if you wish.
Please make your own ferry arrangements. If you are planning to bring a car it is advisable to book in advance.

To register for this trip send $30.00 per person to: Kathy Santucci, 38 Lime Kiln Road, Tuckahoe, NY 10707.

Hello, Everyone!

May for Martha's Vineyard Trip

The spring NELL lighthouse trip will be held on the weekend of May 19-21. Our destination is Martha's Vineyard and its 5 lighthouses: Cape Poge, Edgartown, East Chop, West Chop, and Gay Head. We'll be allowed to access all lighthouses, except West Chop, which can be viewed from a vantage point suitable for photo ops. Since a number of members will be bringing their cars over to the Vineyard, traveling will be done by car pools. Dave Dingley, the first-vice president in charge of this trip, will send a list of signed-on travelers with their phone numbers and email addresses to each responder, so that teaming up for car pools may be planned in advance

Our starting point will be the Edgartown Commons hotel in Edgartown at 9:00 am, Saturday morning. From there we'll travel to the 5 lighthouses and spend the day visiting them with a lunch break in between. Sunday will be a day of leisure, shopping, and visiting museums with a membership meeting scheduled for late morning or early afternoon.

Two hotels have blocked a limited number of rooms at discount for our group. When you call for a reservation, be sure to identify yourself as a "NELL" member. The hotels are: Holiday Inn in Falmouth, for those who want to stay on the mainland, and the Edgartown Commons at Edgartown on the Vineyard. For Holiday Inn reservations call (877) 272-6415. For Edgartown Commons, call Rob Hurst at (508) 627-4671. The special reservations are for a limited time only. Other facilities are available and the two hotels can provide assistance at locating them.

For ferry service, the Steamship Authority Ferry is the only one that will take motor vehicles aboard. Its dock location is at Woods Hole. Call (508) 477-8600 for information, schedules, and reservations. The other 5 ferry services are for pedestrians only. For those staying on the mainland, the best one is the Falmouth to Edgartown Ferry, which is docked near the Holiday Inn. Call (508) 548-9400 for information and reservations.

For more information about our itinerary, contact Dave Dingley at (781) 767-3018 or email him at da17lmwo@gmail.com. When our itinerary is finalized, Dave will send out the schedule to all responders. If you plan to come on this trip and have not contacted Dave yet, please do so, so that you get on the all-important master list.

Dave Dingley

Whitehead Light Station

We are delighted to announce that we're offering a second knitting retreat at Whitehead Light Station this year! Join Heather Monroe Kinne, independent dyer and owner of Highland Handmades, and Mim Bird, master knitter and owner of Over The Rainbow Yarn, for an island knitting retreat on Labor Day Weekend (September 1-5). Using seawater and fiber reactive dyes from a Maine based company, Heather will show you how to turn a skein of super wash wool yarn into your own unique colorway. Once you have your beautiful skein, Mim will work with you to create a personal design that showcases your color. Whether you're a skilled knitter or a beginner, this is an opportunity to learn from and be inspired by your fellow knitters as well as two of Maine's highly accomplished fiber arts professionals.

As is true for all of our programs, this unique learning experience is enriched by the unparalleled beauty of Whitehead Island. Guests stay in the historic and elegant Light Keeper's House and are treated to delicious meals prepared with ingredients from Maine's mid-coast area. There's a chair waiting for you. Register now. ## Other Lighthouse News

Cape Cod's Three Sisters Lighthouses

Foundation of the Center 'Sister' Lighthouse courtesy of the National Parks Service

Lighthouses are as much a part of Cape Cod's history and allure as its miles of beaches, quaint villages, and fabulous shops. There are eighteen lighthouses on Cape Cod. Some of them are more universally known, such as Chatham Light, Nauset Light, Race Point Light, Highland Light, and Nobska Light. There are a few lesser known like Cleveland Ledge Light, Wings Neck Light, and Point Gammon Light, yet all of the structures have one common thread, they are located on the water. However there are three lighthouses in Eastham that are not even within sight of water. In fact they sit quietly in a field on Cable Road more than 1,800-feet from the ocean. These are the Three Sisters Lighthouses and their story is one of the most fascinating in Cape Cod history. It is a story that is still going on to this day.

The history of these structures begins nearly 200-years ago when the Town of Eastham petitioned to have a beacon built along the shore to protect passing vessels after there had been so many shipwrecks. The proposal was approved in 1836 with work being completed in 1838. However instead of there being one lighthouse it was decided that there would be three. The reason for the three was to help vessels differentiate the Eastham lights from the single Highland Light to the north in Truro, and the twin lights of Chatham to the south. The fifteen-foot tall brick structures were constructed by local builder Winslow Lewis and his team who had put in the lowest bid.

The three towers soon gained the 'Three Sisters' nickname. Legend has it that vessels passing by remarked that they resembled three ladies in white dresses wearing black hats. The lighthouses did their job for decades until shoreline erosion threatened them. Today when a lighthouse is threatened measures are taken to save them by moving them safely away from the eroding cliffs. In the late 1800's though the three brick towers were simply allowed to succumb to nature and fall into the sea. They were replaced in 1892 by three new 'Sisters' standing twenty-two feet tall and 150-feet apart. These new wooden towers with brick foundations were positioned thirty-feet back from where the original towers had fallen.
